

Sun shone brighter as she glided higher in the blue, morning sky. Finally Canute opened his eyes.

“Good morning, Sun,” he said. He pushed open the wooden shutter on his window. “Why is this your day?”